MATTAPOISETT LIONS PRESENTATION

The Mattapoisett Lions Club met April 8th at the Harbor Beach Lodge. Speaker of the evening was International Councilor Frank Sawyer. President Raymond Covill presented Mr. Sawyer, second vice-president of Massachusetts Eye Research Inc., with a check for $1,000. to be used in eye research. This check represents the highest total ever reached by the local club for donation to this project.

Mr. Sawyer spoke on new developments in eye research. He also brought up a proposed Massachusetts Lions Eye Research Laboratory. Two Boston hospitals are interested in the proposed lab and would like to be affiliated with it. They would donate the land. The annual Lions convention will be held in May and a decision will be made at that time. The lab would cost in the neighborhood of $800,000 of which the government would furnish half.

Mr. Sawyer also spoke of the eye bank program. He said that cooperation is needed by lawyer, doctor and undertaker in this program. Donated eyes must be removed within 48 hours. The final decision rests with the next of kin in such donations.

CANCER DRIVE

Cancer will be dealt another hard blow next Tuesday evening, April 21, as more than 95,000 Massachusetts Cancer Crusaders will ring door bells all over the Commonwealth in the annual American Cancer Society house-to-house canvass.

"It is not a simplification to say that cancer can only be conquered when more money is given to fight it," said former Governor John A. Volpe of Winchester, state chairman of the Cancer Crusade. "Money is needed. It is needed for research, for the educational program of the Society, and for the service needed by patients already afflicted with cancer."

The theme of the 1964 Crusade is "Tell Your Neighbor". Each neighborhood, block, street or apartment house volunteer will distribute educational material outlining the seven cancer danger signals in addition to collecting much needed funds.

"The Society feels the house-to-house effort offers the best opportunity to reach the greatest number of people with this important message," Volpe said. "It is a fact that in the past the distribution of brief and easy-to-understand educational leaflets by volunteers has been instrumental in making some people aware of cancer in its early stages. Many of these persons then sought medical advice before cancer became critical and were thus saved."

Ex-Governor Volpe pointed out that approximately half of the total income of the American Cancer Society's Massachusetts Division in 1963 was raised in the house-to-house canvass on an April evening. The remainder of the support given the Society was derived from special gifts, business and industrial contributions and bequests.
